Office Of The Governor

WHEREAS, It's time once again for Eleanor Saukerson to celebrate the anniversary of her 39th birthday; and,

WHEREAS, Eleanor Saukerson, mother of five children and one Clyde, proved her penchant for flattery at a recent waterskiing contest by telling South Dakota's Governor that his presence in the Missouri River had raised the Mighty Mo beyond flood stage; and,

WHEREAS, Eleanor Saukerson, because of her own dynamic performance on water skis, has redefined this summertime activity as a contact sport; and,

WHEREAS, Eleanor Saukerson, the Register of Deeds for Brule County and past state president for the County Official's Organization, demonstrated a superhuman lobbying ability when a floundering pay raise bill she was supporting finally passed the day after she had gone home; and,

WHEREAS, Eleanor Saukerson, the mother of the Governor's legal advisor, gave the chief executive some of the best advice ever when she said of her son, Clyde, "fire the bum!"; and,

WHEREAS, If more women were like Eleanor Saukerson, fewer people would have to buy their own nail clippers:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, WILLIAM J. JANKLOW, Governor of the State of South Dakota, and being of sound mind and body, do hereby proclaim March 30, 1982, as in South Dakota, and encourage all South Dakotans to keep an eye out for Eleanor Saukerson, because she's a sensational lady and she's got a mean left hook!

ELEANOR SAUKERSON DAY

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State of South Dakota, in Pierre, the Capital City, this Twenty-sixth Day of March, in the Year of Our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and Eighty-Two

WILLIAM J. JANKLOW, GOVERNOR
